Course Overview

The rheumatic heart disease workshop is designed for key health staff involved in the diagnosis and management of people with acute rheumatic fever (ARF) and rheumatic heart disease (RHD) in South Australia.

The workshop will engage participants with a combination of objective driven information sessions, and consolidate that knowledge with a series of targeted clinical and practical studies.

12 CME/CPD points available upon completion of workshop

Scholarships may be available upon application. Please email rhd@sa.gov.au for more information.
